A brief about my vocation

My vocation to the priesthood was really started when I was doing my grade two back in one of the community schools in Rabaul. I was feeling enthusiasm about becoming a priest one day. That spirit of being a priest was really strong and I was wandering, "How do priests happen to become a priest?" because every Sunday I had observed a different priest coming to our community to celebrate the Mass. so it was a kind of joyous moment for me to see a different priest coming to my community. So from there the vocation to be a priest was building in me. In 2005 when I completed grade 12, I wrote to the vocation director Fr. John Bosco Auram of the Diocese of Kimbe and eventually was accepted to the formation house to begin my formation program. From the formation house I went to Sacred Heart Seminary in Rabaul to do my first level of philosophy and theology. Through the formation I undertook it help me to understand that the way to the priesthood is demanding so it needs obedience, commitment, and sacrifice in order to live a life of service to the people.
